New Housing Solutions LIVE

Innovations in Affordability, Community, and Health

July 14, 2020

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>8:00–11:00am</td>
<td>Welcome! Welcome to New Housing Solutions LIVE. Check out our site so that you are ready for the event: look through the agenda, sign up for sessions, browse our resource library, hang out in the networking areas to meet the other participants, and post your most pressing questions.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:00–11:15am</td>
<td>Opening Keynote: Room for Improvement</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:20–12:15pm</td>
<td>Opening Panel: Rethinking Health and Homes After Coronavirus The pandemic that swept the world this year was the worst in a century, underscoring yet again the pressing need for healthy, equitable, accessible housing and the overwhelming lack thereof across the world. What lessons have we learned about housing as a determinant of health and the need for safe, clean, affordable homes for all? What about the unbearable financial strain faced by many homeowners and renters, how the health of our communities is inextricably tied to housing - and how we can work on it?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12:20–1:15pm</td>
<td>Spotlight on Texas: New Approaches to America’s Housing Crisis It’s no secret America faces a housing crisis. Texas has reaped huge rewards for its relatively large number of housing starts and affordability, but it is hardly immune to poverty. Proposed solutions range from “opportunity zones” for enlightened investors to a renewed tenant rights movement battling for rent control and other protections. How can cities square the circle of attracting private capital while protecting low income residents?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1:15–1:45pm</td>
<td>Question and Answer Lunch Session We’ve been collecting your questions and will be asking our experts for their answers. Sit back, relax, grab your lunch, and listen to their takes on what you’ve been pondering and questioning so far throughout the event.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1:45–2:15pm</td>
<td>Fireside Chat: What’s the Matter with California?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2:15–3:30pm</td>
<td>Workshops Head to the links for the breakout session you signed up for.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3:30pm–5:00pm</td>
<td>Non–live features and benefits available Networking areas, replays, and the resource library are available.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

www.newcities.org | @NewCities
July 15, 2020

8:00–11:00am  Welcome to Day Two!
Look through the agenda, sign up for sessions, browse our resource library, and hang out in the networking areas to meet the other participants.

11:00–12:00pm  Panel: Millennials’ Missing Middle
Much has been made of the millennial generation’s preference for urban living — a preference that will be put to the test as members raise families. Is there a home for them in cities? While downtowns have become playgrounds for singles and childless couples, families have been relentlessly pushed toward the metropolitan fringes. Is there a happy medium between studios and single-family homes, and how can cities and developers work together to increase the supply of “missing middle” housing?

12:05–1:30pm  Workshops
Head to the links for the breakout session you signed up for.

1:30–2:00pm  Question and Answer Lunch Session
We’ve been collecting your questions and will be asking our experts for their answers. Sit back, relax, grab your lunch, and listen to their takes on what you’ve been pondering and questioning so far throughout the event.

2:00–3:00pm  Panel: New Forms, New Functions: How Technology Enables New Models For Housing
If technology is the answer, what is the question? How can we use new construction-, coordination-, and financing technologies to re-imagine how homes are built, and who builds them?

2:00–5:00pm  Non-live features and benefits available
Networking areas, replays, and the resource library are available.

July 16, 2020

8:00–11:00am  Welcome to Day Three!
Look through the agenda, sign up for sessions, browse our resource library, and hang out in the networking areas to meet the other participants.

11:00–11:55pm  Panel: The Future of Suburban is… Urban?
The suburbs of the Metroplex are some of the most racially diverse, fastest-growing areas of the country, belying their image. But some suburbs are choosing to embrace this growth — investing in schools, approving mixed-use development, and encouraging walkability — while others are content to sprawl. What do the suburbs of the future look like, and how can they reduce their dependence on the costs of an auto-dependent lifestyle? And what does this all mean in the context of a pandemic, when people fear density?

12:00–12:45pm  Lunch
If this were a live event, you’d be having lunch with some strangers, those friends you only ever see at conferences, or the coworker you traveled there with. We have created Zoom links per panel topic from the last three days - go get your lunch, click on the one the most interesting to you, and get talking!

12:45–1:40pm  Panel: What Happens when the Rent Comes Due?
As the pandemic’s crash in economic output ripples outward, renters, landlords, lenders, and cities find themselves increasingly squeezed at each link in the chain. On the one hand, COVID-19 has proven housing to be both a human right — how does one “shelter-in-place” without shelter? — and an unstoppable financial machine. As renters face eviction, homeowners face foreclosure, and cities are staring down a looming fiscal crisis, what tools exist to provide access to housing for all during the crisis and beyond?

1:45–2:00pm  Keynote: Where do we go from here?

2:00–3:30pm  Workshops
Head to the links for the breakout session you signed up for.

3:30–5:00pm  Non-live features and benefits available
Networking areas, replays, and resource library are available.

5:00–6:00pm  Happy Hour
Grab your drink, your snack, and join us!